Volume XLII

Boardman High School

Boardman, Ohio

Foreword

As the student starts out upon his high school career, he finds himself at the beginning of a highway. His experiences during his journey over this four-year road will provide a basis for his future, and he is required to choose the path he will follow. The path to the left leads out into the barren lands of selfish pursuits and on into oblivion; the path to the right is the path of achievement, which leads into the fruitful fields of service and on to glorious fulfillment.

The beginning finds its place in the freshman year. It is unique in that it can never be relived—each memory must stand as a milestone passed—a monument between the past and the future. The road takes on new turns as the sophomore year progresses. Each new opportunity and challenge brings the student closer to his personal byways—paths that he alone can follow. He learns now to measure his footsteps carefully, knowing that each decision may lead him from his chosen path. The junior year brings the student to the crossroads of his highway. It is here that he can stop and peer back to observe his progress. His path is established, but he must still strive to maintain his forward progress to meet his goal. The end of the high school journey becomes a reality with the senior year. The student passes through the familiar acts for the last time. He realizes this end and a note of sadness is evident as he sings the alma mater. This is an ending, but it is also a beginning—a beginning to another road, this one leading to the future.

Along the way, the student makes many important discoveries which contribute to his development as a whole. The teachers who guide him serve as instruments to mold his character, not always making the road a smooth one but giving the student an opportunity to use all of his creative talents. The student soon learns that to succeed he must develop himself to the fullest measure, maturing with experience. He participates with others in academic, social, and athletic activities, drawing from them a sense of accomplishment and pride.

Finally, then, the student discovers the true keys to a satisfying and productive future and combines all that he has learned with his own personality. He is ready now to travel further down life's highway, charting his course by his new-found knowledge. The Crier staff of 1967 hopes that each student will stop and consider his position in the journey through high school portrayed in these pages. Perhaps by looking at the past year in retrospect, each can better plot his direction on the road to the future.

Dedicated To . . .

It has been the objective of one particular teacher to challenge the student—giving of her personal talent and enthusiasm to shape him into an object of culture and perfection. While guiding others, however, she also constantly strives to develop her own potential through the theater and civic participation, knowing that ability goes hand in hand with understanding. Because of her devotion to the teaching profession and her contributions to the future of each of her students, we dedicate the 1967 Crier to MISS NANCILEE BLACK.

"I am a fellow traveller of whom you asked the way. I pointed ahead—ahead of myself as of you."

ADMINISTRATION

Superintendent

Mr. Nisonger is respected not only for his competent job as superintendent but also for his interest and deep concern for the educational needs of Boardman. Because of these factors he has gained the infinite admiration of students, teachers, and the entire community.

Boardman Board of Education

In alternate years, the Boardman community chooses two men to constitute our rotating five-man Board of Education. These elected representatives, who serve four year terms, meet once a month and make the policies concerning the entire school system. These decisions include transportation, budget, employment of personnel, and the calendar for the school year.

The major job of the board this year was to plan the new $5,300,000 high school for the community. This new school is to be located on fifty acres of land near our present junior high school and will accommodate 2200-2600 students. Special features of this large structure will be the instructional material center which will combine the facilities of the library and audio-visual aids in 11,000 square feet of space, a gymnasium which will seat 3500 spectators, and four language labs with one central control room. The completion of the building has been set for the fall of 1968, and hopefully the Class of 1969 will be the first to graduate from this new addition to our school system.

Mrs. Irma Randall Clerk to the Board of Education.

Dr. Nicolette reflects the seriousness of making the right decisions

Principal

Mr. Kibbel reviews the architect's plans for the new high school

Mr. Grant F. Kibbel, Principal

Mr. Grant F. Kibbel, Principal of Boardman High School, is a man whose duties revolve around the functions and problems of our school. The direction and critical evaluation of the courses of study and the guidance of extra-curricular activities have imprinted upon the minds of the students the efficiency and the sincere willingness of this dedicated man.

Mrs. Marjorie Gubbins,
Secretary to the Principal.

Mr. Morris Kirk, Assistant Principal

Assistant Principals

The coordinating of the master and student schedules and the controlling of disciplinary matters are the duties of Mr. Morris Kirk, Assistant Principal. He also is the administrative advisor to the Student Council.

Mr. Richard Selby, Assistant Principal

The essence of Mr. Richard N. Selby's position as Assistant Principal is guiding juniors and seniors in their choices of vocations and colleges. Keeping the boys' attendance records and organizing the school social calendar are also his duties.

Mrs. Effie Mae Tracy, Secretary to Mr. Selby and Records Clerk.

Mrs. Nancy Baun, Secretary to Mr. Kirk

Dean of Girls

Personal counseling and keeping record of the girls' attendance are two important duties of Mrs. Karen Dennison. During her first year as Dean of Girls, she supervised the Jingle Bell Program at Christmas, acted as advisor and coach to the three cheerleading squads, and arranged and co-ordinated Baccalaureate and Graduation.

Mrs. Karen Dennison, Dean of Girls.

Guidance

Mr. Edward Strauss, Junior Guidance Counselor.

Mr. Robert Lantz, Sophomore Guidance Counselor.

Due to the large student enrollment of 1875 students this year, the need for a larger guidance department was intensified. To meet this need, Mr. Lantz became sophomore guidance counselor while Miss Roman remained as freshman counselor. Our new counselor for juniors was Mr. Strauss and Mr. Selby was counselor for seniors. Through the help of the guidance offices, students are directed in courses of study and possible choices of colleges and vocations.

Secretaries

The numerous details surrounding the running of a school system are handled by our competent secretaries. Their many duties include keeping records, typing attendance reports, filling out and sending transcripts, and bookkeeping. They also serve as receptionists and organizers for their offices. Assisting administration, faculty, and students is another of their major tasks. Our secretaries are indeed a vital asset to our school organization

Reading — A Basic Tool of Education

Mrs. Rose Marie Roth,
Supervisor of the Reading Center.

Reading

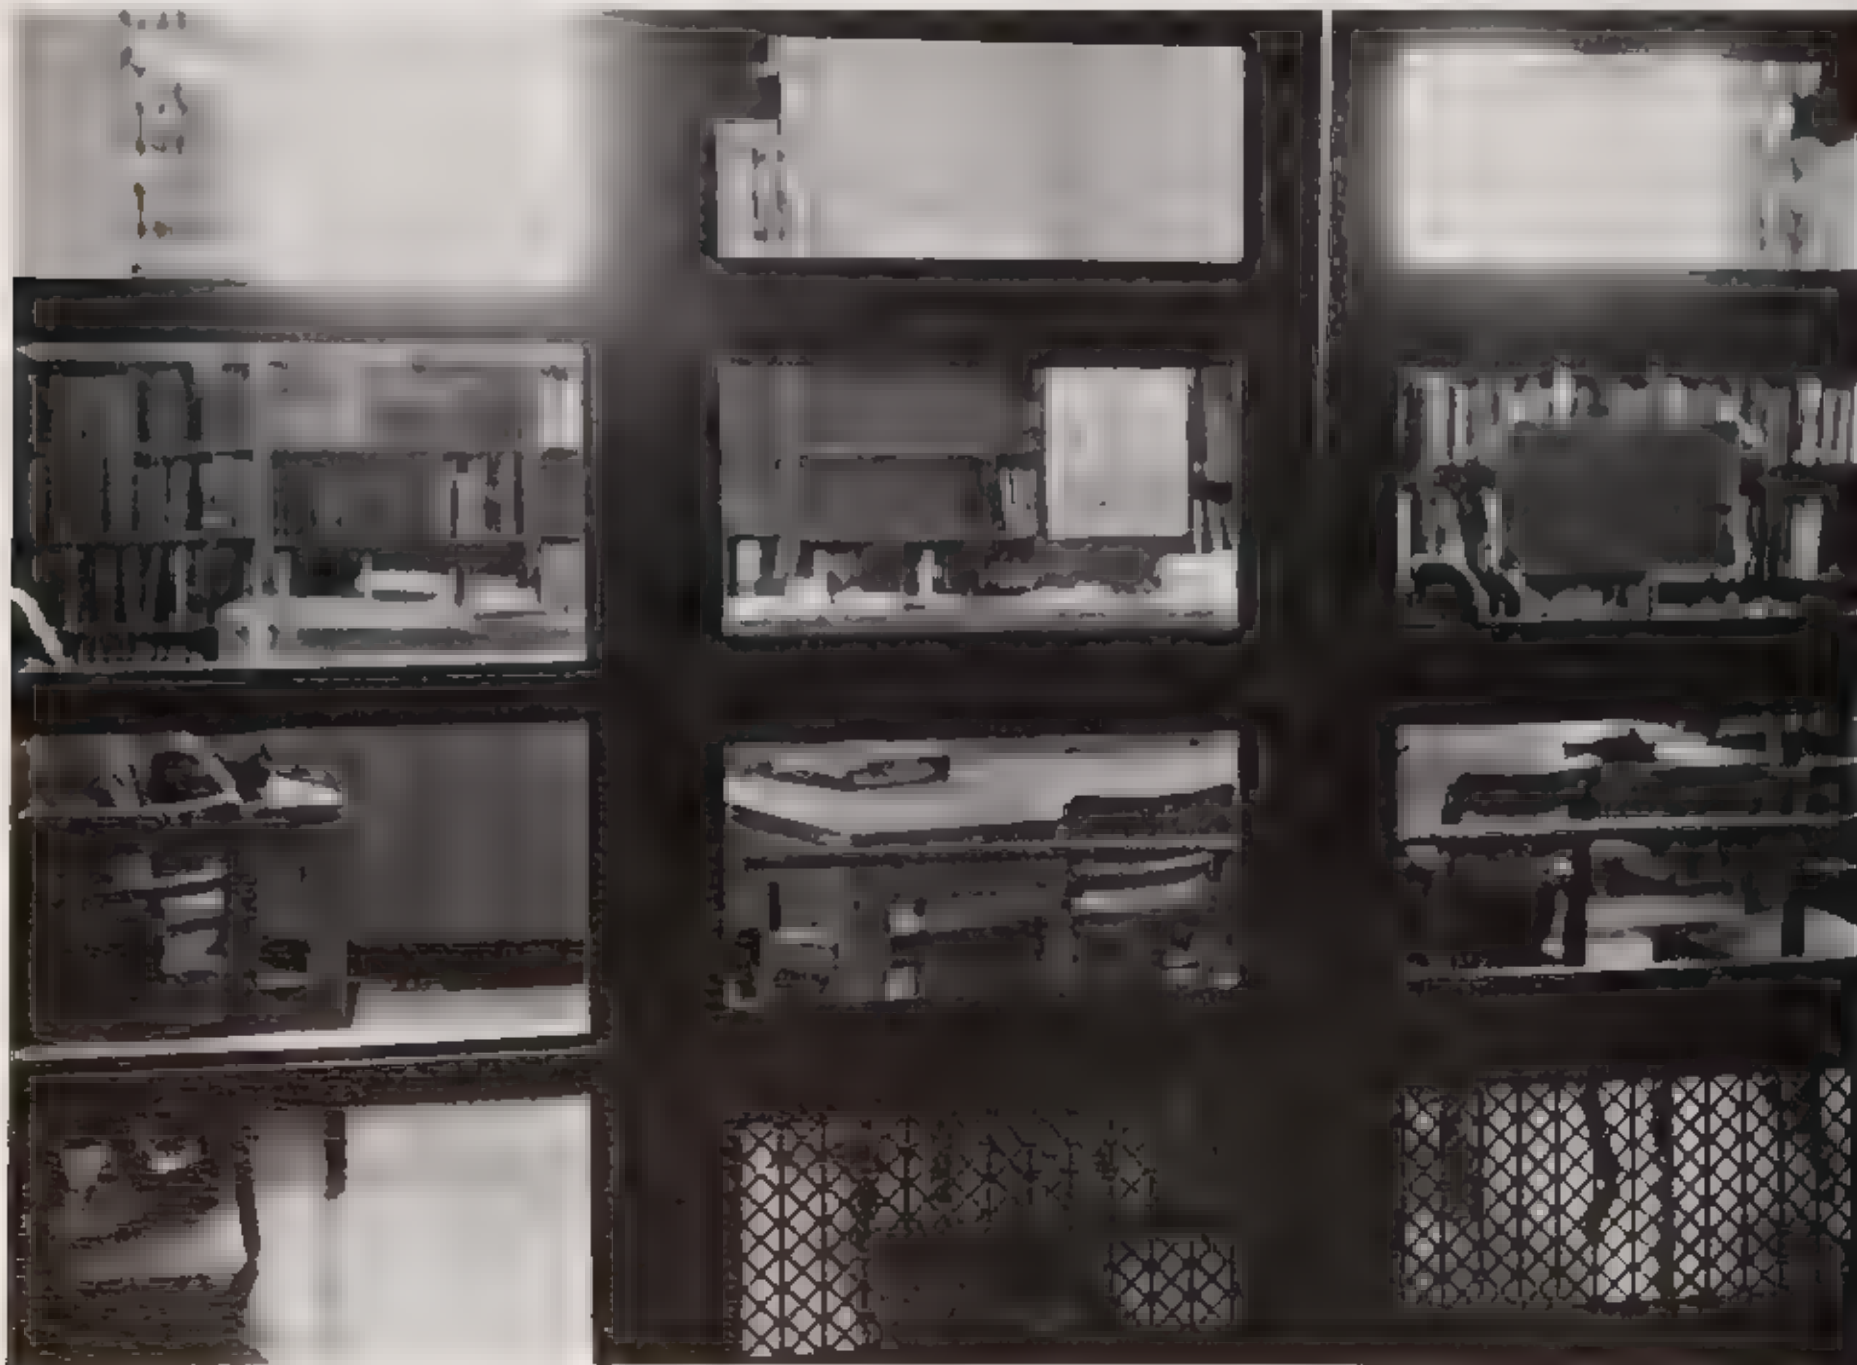

Our reading center, a very important part in the preparation for high school studies and future educational and vocational needs, is one of the few in the area. Through the use of its modern reading pacers, film strips, and drill sheets, the student has the opportunity to improve his reading speed, comprehension, and vocabulary. The reading course is one semester and emphasizes self-achievement, in that credit toward graduation is not given.

Library

The library, visited by nearly 200 people a day, is another one of the most important guides for studying for every student at Boardman High School. It is used not only for research work but also for reading enjoyment. An average of 40 fiction books, 50 non-fiction books and 15 magazines are checked out each day.

Languages Help Build the Road to World Peace

Miss Alma Klinger,
Department Head

Boardman offers its students four year courses in German, French, Spanish, Latin and beginning this year, a course in Russian. With the invaluable aid of the language laboratory, the hearing, speaking, and grammatical approaches are teamed to produce a program concentrating on individual development. For additional studies the student has the opportunity to continue his learning during the summer months, by participating in the Foreign Language League for French and Spanish pupils, or the Cultural Studies Academy for the German students. Study and understanding of these languages and culture will help build the road to world peace

Mathematics

Boardman's mathematics curriculum closely parallels the learning process of the science program. The Mathematics Department helps develop a logical thought process so necessary for solving complex scientific problems.

A student's first two years in math introduce him to the fundamentals of algebra and geometry. The third and fourth year of math coordinate the basic ideas of algebra and geometry into analytic geometry and trigonometry. For the students who take Math V, the common principles of physics and calculus are brought into focus.

Mrs. Mary Alice Herrmann's calm, reassuring smile encourages a rapport between teacher, student, and subject matter.

Science

The science teachers at Boardman can be credited with a program that has steadily increased in both quality and scope. Students are introduced to the complexities of the world around them by general science. Biology I and II focus students' attention on the life processes found in nature. Chemistry explains the structure of matter and how it changes when various substances react with each other. The culmination of the science program is physics which probes the universal laws concerning motion, matter, and energy.

Social Studies Links Ancient Culture With Modern Civilization

Governmental policies and operations, the problems and promises of our nation, the written history of man, and the study of economics are just a few of the lessons taught in the social studies department at Boardman. The required courses—American history, world history, and problems of democracy, strengthened by the electives—world geography, psychology, sociology and economics constitute a well-balanced program for all students. Each course offers the student an opportunity to become acquainted with our political, social, and historical heritage and the demanding challenges of today's world.

Business Department

One of the fastest growing departments in our school system is the business department. A total of seven teachers and almost nine hundred students make up the classes, which include Typing I and II, office practice, bookkeeping, sales and law, Shorthand I and II, and general business.

The business department prepares its students for employment in a fast-changing business world, which is constantly being affected by automation. Students acquire employable skills which will enable them to financially support themselves.

In 1967, a new business program, Cooperative Office Education or COE, was incorporated into the department. During an uninterrupted three hour period, students will benefit from individual training. During the afternoon, students will put theory into practice by working in offices. In this manner, the business department will fulfill its objectives.

On the road or in the classroom, Mr. John Garver develops the skills necessary to make Boardman students more responsible drivers.

The ability to type is an asset to everyone's education

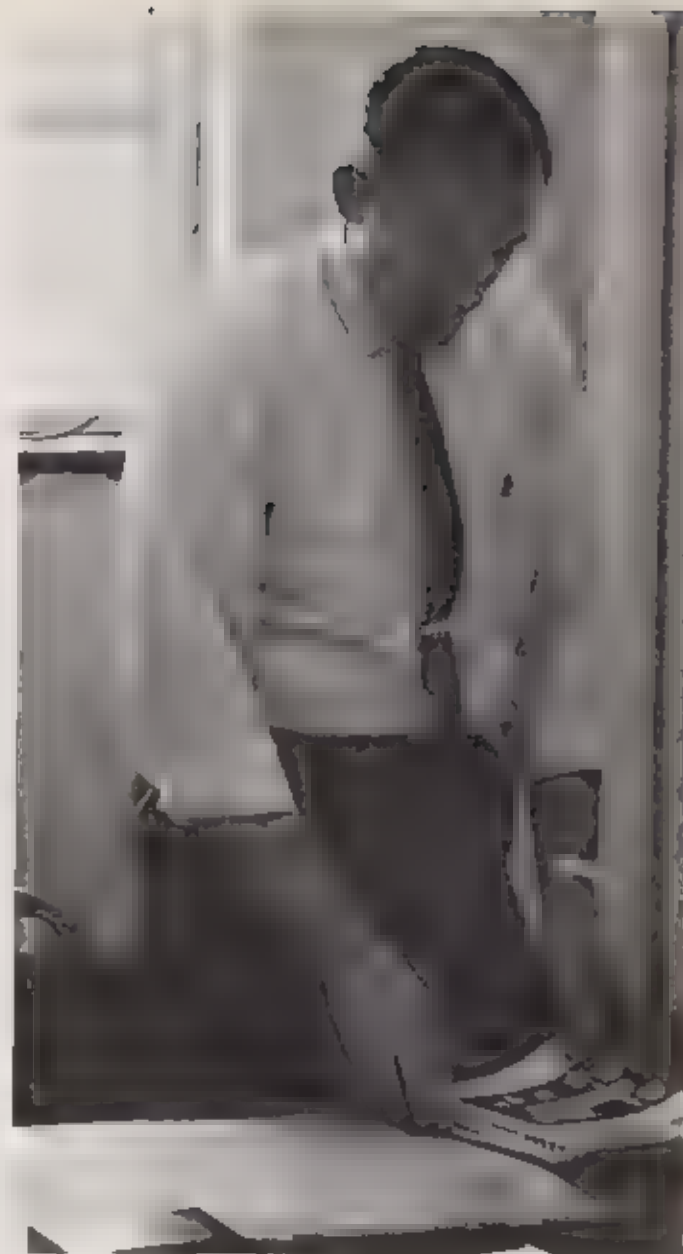

Driver's Education

Any high school student who is sixteen years or older may join the driver's education class. The course involves one semester of class room study and actual driving experience. Classes are also conducted after school for a period of six weeks. The goals of the study are not only to teach the students the proper handling of an automobile, but also laws and safe practices for driving on today's highways.

Craftsmanship in the Art of Living

The Vocational Arts program familiarizes students with the basic techniques for success in their prospective vocations. The Industrial Arts Department teaches the fundamental skills in mechanical drawing, electricity, metal works, plastics and machine shop. Home Economics stresses the home through such courses as home management, Home Economics I and II, and Clothing I and II. Both programs help the student develop practical applications of knowledge in their chosen field of study for community and family life.

In addition to teaching his woodshop classes, Mr. Richard Gamble is in charge of distributing audio-visual equipment.

Physical Education

Physical education, a required subject for all freshmen, sophomores, and juniors, is an important factor in co-ordinating the body and the mind. Besides calisthenics, the program includes bowling, tennis, golf, track, and folk dancing. The girls also participate in a few team sports such as basketball and volleyball. These activities help the student develop as a team.

A course in health is given for one semester to each freshman. In this study the students learn the basics of preserving both mental and physical health through the study of the human anatomy and personal hygiene.

Membership in the National Honor Society is the highest honor attainable by a high school student. Each candidate must show achievement in the four areas of character, scholarship, leadership, and service. At Boardman, members are chosen in March of each year by the high school faculty and administration.

This year thirty-seven seniors and twenty-one juniors were inducted into N.H.S. during a ceremony conducted by the second year members. The traditional gold pin and a lighted blue candle, the symbols and colors of the society, were given to each new initiate.

Quill and Scroll, the national honor society for high school journalists, is the highest honor attainable for outstanding writers and heads of school publications. Each spring the induction is held in the home of a member at which a candle-lighting and pinning ceremony takes place.

Buckeye Boys' State

In June of each year, the American Legion sponsors Buckeye Boys' State on the Ohio University campus in Athens, Ohio. Boardman's 1966 representatives to this nine day course in practical government were Jeff Stillson and Bob Hackman. Along with 1,350 other boys from all parts of Ohio, Jeff and Bob learned the fundamentals of government through practice rather than theory. Activities ranged from state-wide elections and legislative debates to assassination plots and communal riots among various cities.

Spartan Council

The main purpose of the Spartan Council is to provide entertainment for the high school students after the football and basketball games. This year, for the second consecutive year, the club had live entertainment at two dances.

With the funds received from these activities, the club sponsored Ramon Manadat, a foster child from the Philippines. They also made donations to A.F.S., United Fund, U.S.S. Hope, and the Crier. The thirty-two members completed their year with a picnic.

Student Council

Student Council's purpose is one of the most essential in the realm of extracurricular activities: it brings the problems and goals of the administration and the students closer together. The Council's newly formulated goals include encouraging the student body to take an interest in Student Council affairs, in providing an improved school spirit, and in coordinating the extracurricular and social events by chartering clubs and devising a master activity calendar.

The Council's main projects for the year were selling basketball programs, explaining the function of the U.S.S. Hope, and holding the second annual Christmas Dance "Silver Bells".

AFS

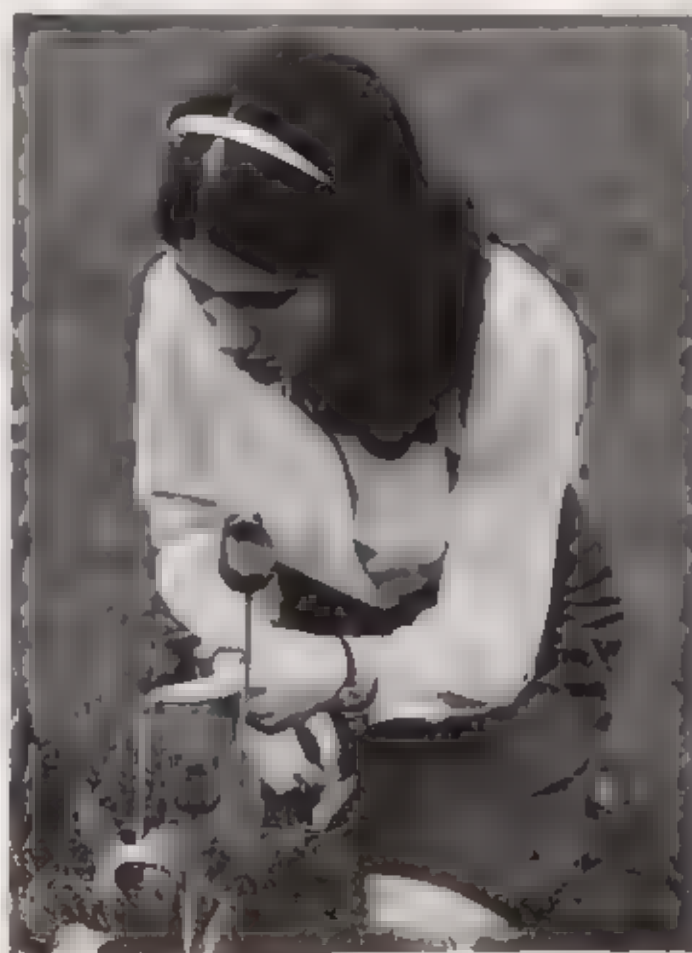

Neither strength, power, nor wealth have the potential to bring complete happiness. Only through ourselves by replacing fear and jealousy with understanding will war disappear. Through this understanding we may gain an everlasting peace among ourselves and other nations. This is the purpose of the American Field Service.

Since 1961 Boardman has had an AFS program at the high school. Our program has sponsored students from around the world to come to Boardman to study for one year. In addition, it has helped to sponsor students from B.H.S. to travel to distant lands for a period of three months. Funds for the continuation of the A.F.S. program at Boardman were received from the profits of the musical, "L'il Abner", and donations from the Student Council and the Spartan Council.

From Marseille, France, near the Riviera, came Anne-Marie Richards, Boardman's sixth AFS student. She became a member of the Darl Dolan family, with her American sister being Betsy, a senior at B.H.S. Her studies included English III, P.O.D., American History, economics, and Math IV. She also audited different classes each day during her free period and was an active member of the band. Her extra-curricular activities included Student Council, A.F.S. and she was a valuable asset to the French Club. After her return to France, Anne will finish one more year at her high school. Although she does not know yet where she will continue her education, she is planning to become an economist.

Students from Other Lands

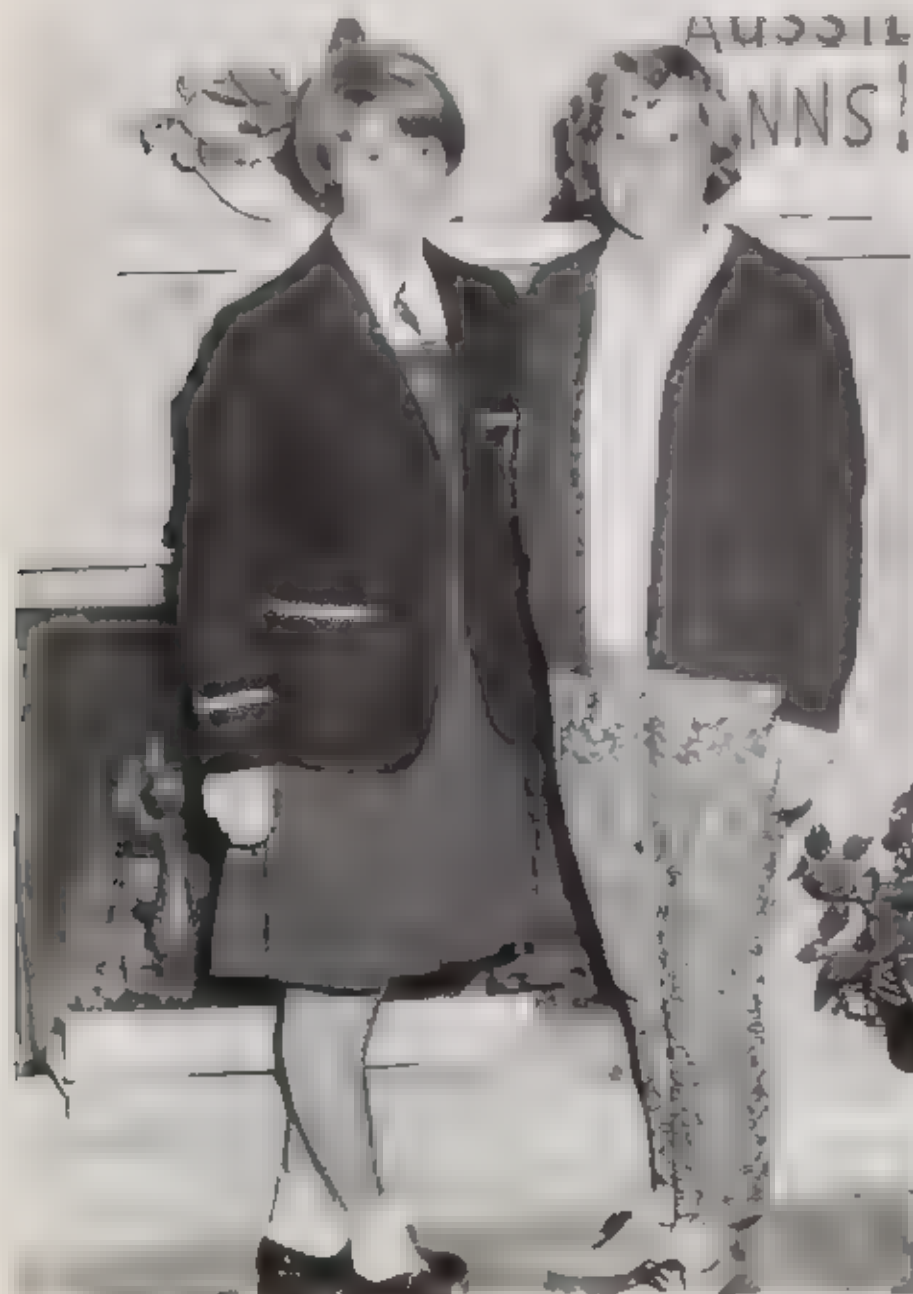

By means of a Rotary Scholarship, Alicia Wieland of Cordoba, Argentina, became a member of Boardman's senior class. Alicia, a graduate of a secondary institution in her country, continued her study of English and added the courses P.O.D., American History, German, art, and Girls' Glee Club while in the United States. During her stay, she was a member of the William Cox, Arthur Frank, Robert Brandenburg, and Horace Powell families. Upon her return home, Alicia will specialize in psychology at the National University in Cordoba.

Alicia Wieland enjoyed her holiday season U.S.A. style

Through the open-heartedness and hospitality of the C.E. Keppler family, Hiroko Katagiro was able to attain her wish of studying in the United States for a year. After advertising her desire of coming to this country in the nation-wide Covenant Church paper and receiving a letter from the Kepplers, Hiroko travelled from Tokyo, Japan, to our Boardman community. Here she practiced her English, which she had studied for six years, and took on our high school courses of Math IV, American History, P.O.D., English III, and Girls' Glee. After her year at B.H.S., she will journey back to Japan, where she will attend college. She hopes to return to the United States after one year to continue her studies in California.

Hiroko reports to senior home room

Nancy Frank and Anne Thompson

The coldest day of February, 1966, witnessed Nancy Frank, Boardman's first student to spend one year in a foreign land, journeying to the "land down under" (temperature 90 degrees on arrival date). She became the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kil Thompson and sister to their two sons and two daughters of Murwillumbad, New South Wales Australia. Nancy also became a member of three other Rotarian families, was made a school prefect (cross between Student Council and class officer), played on the school tennis team, surfed and skied, mountain-climbed and strove to foster better international understanding on a day-to-day basis living experiment.

In January of 1967, Nancy returned to Boardman. She brought with her, Anne Thompson, her Australian sister. Anne was hosted by the Boardman Rotarians and attended Boardman High School. She followed our academic course and included band and French club in her extra-curricular activities. Next January, Anne will return to her native land to commence her "6th form", the equivalent of U.S. senior year and then to pursue her college education at Armidale Teachers' College.

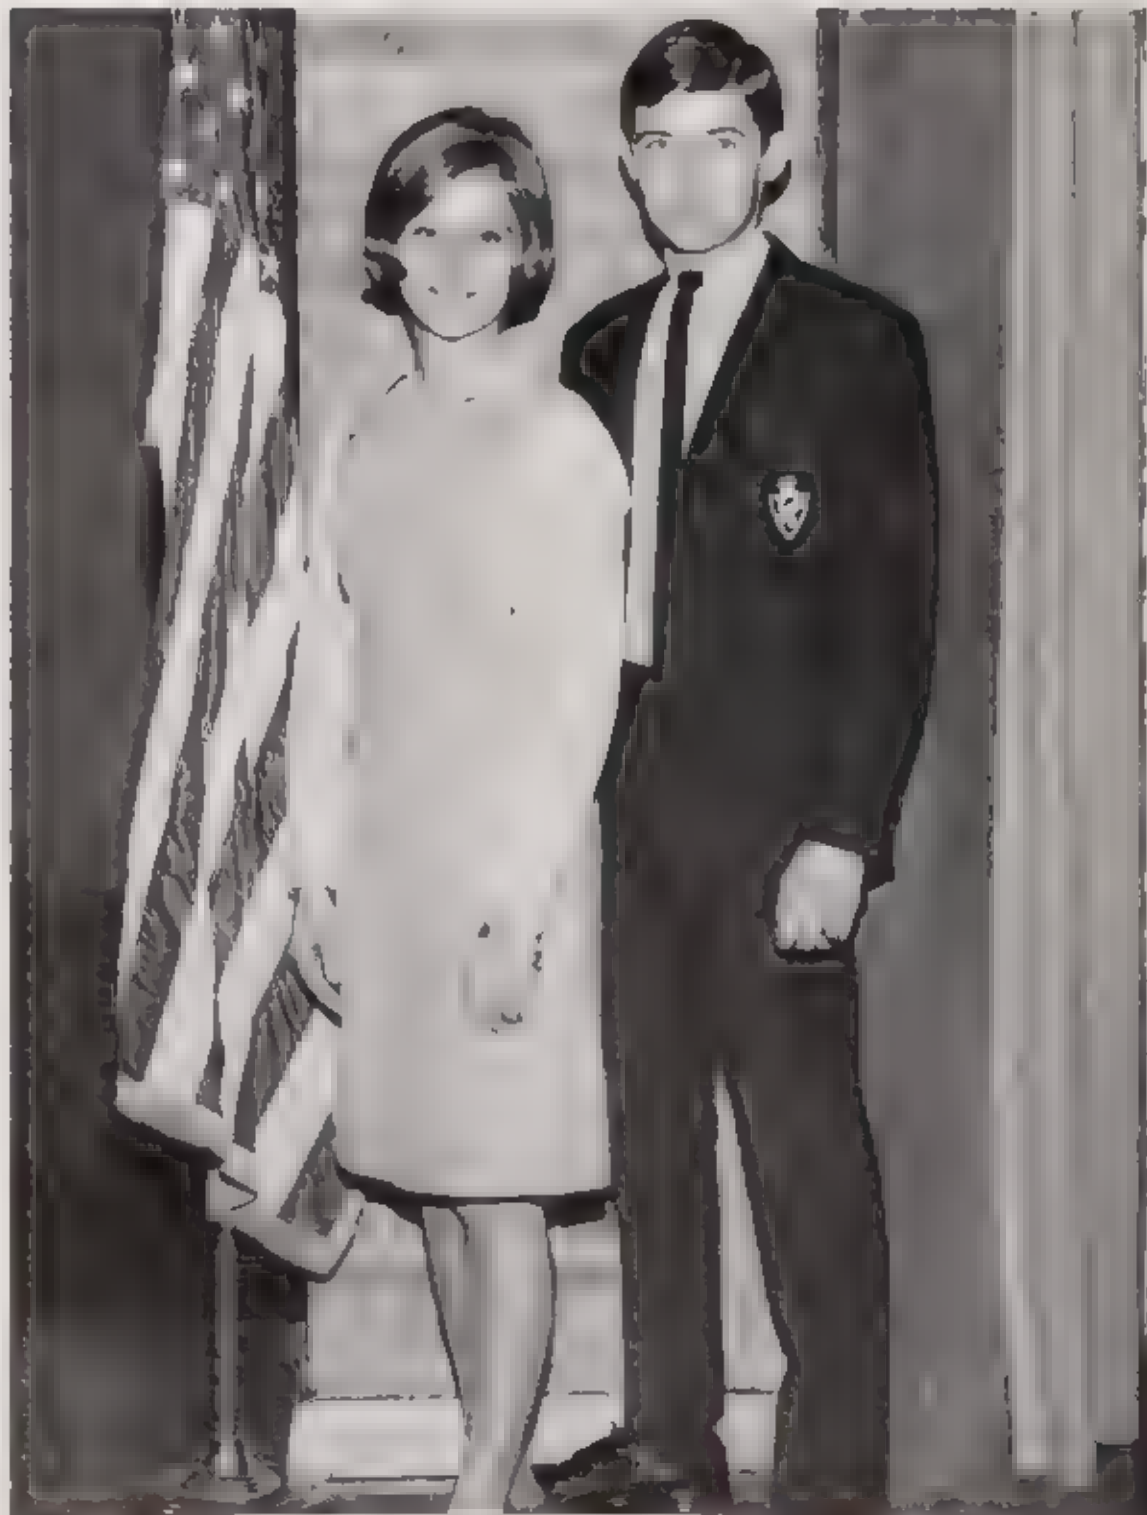

During the A.F.S. assembly, Jim told about everything from Brazilian soccer games and shaving creme in tubes to the future of Brazil and South America.

During the summer of 1966, Recife, Brazil, was the home of Boardman's American Field Service Americans Abroad student, Jim Copacino. A guest of the Arthur Bezerra family, Jim enjoyed ten weeks of Brazilian culture and customs. At the A.F.S. assembly during the school year, the student body heard many of Jim's thrilling experiences and wonderful memories of his visit to South America.

Avida Y-Teens

The Avida Y-Teens once again lived up to their unwritten goal of service above self. The girls made laundry bags for the Florence Crittenton Home, collected for CARE and Muscular Dystrophy and donated food to a poor family at Christmas. Socially, Y-Teens assisted in staging the all-city Touchdown Toddle and Spring Formal at Idora Park. They held their annual carnival, this year's theme being "Hillbilly Heaven", and climaxed their calender of events with cupid's own Sweetheart Ball, "The Sweetheart Tree", in February, and their mother-daughter banquet in May.

Collega Y-Teens

Collega, the sophomore branch of Y-Teens was busy this year with projects designed to serve others. In October the girls sold candy and gave the proceeds to the Kidney Foundation. They also donated to both UNICEF and the Muscular Dystrophy Funds. With Avida they helped finance a project to erase poverty in Appalachia. As a new addition to their activities they provided decorated trees in the cafeteria at Christmastime.

Future Homemakers of America

F.H.A. sought to acquaint girls with the field of home economics. Meetings were held monthly, at which time various speakers presented demonstrations and talks concerning home management and family living.

Besides serving at the sports dinners, the girls also decorated a Christmas tree which they presented to Woodside Hospital. The climactic social event of the year was the April Mother-Daughter Banquet.

Future Teachers of America

Acquainting its members with the teaching profession was the chief purpose of Future Teachers of America. Interests in the world of education and modern teaching techniques were promoted by speakers at the monthly meetings. FTA'ers served as guides and hostesses at the open house, graded papers for the faculty and tutored recommended students. Each member strives to accumulate the required number of points by attending meetings and participating actively in the organization. At the end of the year, the qualified members student teach for a day at Boardman's elementary schools and the junior high.

Business Club

The Business Club is organized to give a better understanding of the commercial world to its members. Through a series of speakers, they learn new office methods, tips for better performance of their duties, and the proper etiquette for interviews. The Fall Banquet was held in October at which new members became acquainted and the Spring Banquet in March, which honored the Seniors, highlighted the year. Speakers at both banquets discussed the business role in relation to the world. Thus the Business Club builds on the basic fundamentals to help members become better equipped for their jobs.

Art Club

The Art Club's 117 members were successful in fulfilling their purpose of promoting the appreciation and understanding of all phases of art. This was achieved through the displaying of students' work in the Little Archway Gallery, the annual Spring Art Exhibit, and a meeting at the Butler Institute of Art. The jungle-like Bohemian Ball, Bongo Congo, and the second annual dinner-theater party concluded the year.

Latina Societas

Latin Club was formed to teach its members more about the customs of Rome and to broaden their knowledge of the Latin language. Each year a "Saturnalia," or "The Feast of Saturn", is held during the Christmas season. At this time a play is presented, Latin games are played, and refreshments are served. In the middle of the year, a movie pertaining to Roman history and customs is shown, and in April the Roman Banquet is held to complete the year's activities. Membership in the club is open to any second year or advanced Latin students.

Le Cercle Francais

Members of Le Cercle Francais need only have studied two semesters of French and have a thirst for the knowledge of French life. Each month the members gain new understanding of the culture, food and civilization of the land

The group this year observed the Fete de Noel through the brightly burning flames of the traditional Yule Log. The Thursday following France's Mardi Gras ("fat Tuesday"), the students crowned a king and queen and celebrated their own Mardi Gras with skits for the royal couple. Also, the members were fortunate enough to hear "our own" French Anne-Marie Richards speak in her mother tongue. The year was highlighted by the annual banquet at Raver's at which every one lived the French meal for the year's last time

Conversation at the head table

Anne-Marie Richard, this year's AFS student, contributed greatly to Le Cercle Francais. She attended all meetings; giving talks, leading songs, and informing the club's members about school life, politics and her personal life in France

Mike Small and Jeannine King performed in the French skit, "Rosalie."

Los Compañeros

Los Compañeros, under the direction of Mr. Padoll, seeks to familiarize its members with the customs and culture of the Spanish speaking world. Through monthly meetings, the members gain a knowledge of the Hispanic way of life. Students completing the prerequisite, the first semester of Spanish I with an 85% average, may become members.

This year at Christmas, the annual fiesta, 'Fiesta de Navidad', was held. At this time the club participated in certain Spanish traditions and sample typical dishes of Spain and Mexico. With the coming of spring, the members gathered for an informal picnic at Boardman Park. The year ended with the showing of the commercial Mexican film, "Las Aventuras de Joselito y Pulgarito"

Der Deutsche Verein

German Club was created to encourage an interest and an understanding of the German Language and customs. It not only stresses academic knowledge of the language, but also the social and cultural nature of the country. Throughout the year the club presents speakers and films authorized by the German consulate.

The highlight of the year was the annual Christmas party. Emphasis was placed on the origin of the Christmas tree. German tradition and history concerning Christmas was discussed and German carols were sung. Hagen Wiebe, a former A.F.S. student, spoke on the German depression and the Nazi reign. A program presented in German completed the club's year.

Language Lab Assistants

Due to the efficient efforts of the language lab assistants, Boardman students have available thirty-one listening response units and tapes in four languages. It is their duty to make new recordings, file old ones, and if requested, aid the teachers in their classes. The remainder of their duties includes cleaning the carrels and assuring their proper function.

Science Club

The Science Club hopes to foster an interest in the field of science and in possible scientific careers, for in today's complex world there is a critical need for scientists and skilled technicians.

At biweekly meetings the members are informed of recent scientific events by films and speakers from firms concerned with science. The club also gives students an opportunity to perform demonstrations in their chosen field. The practical applications of technology are seen on various field trips. This year such trips included visits to the North Side Hospital laboratories and the General Motors plant at Lordstown. The Science Forum open-heart surgery, which attracted over a thousand area students, was hosted by the Science Club.

Chess Club

Silence pervades. Each individual mind is contemplating its next move. Finally the decision is made. Is this the move that could win the game? This is a typical situation that takes place within the minds of all members of the Chess Club.

The Association of Boardman Chessmen, having completed its third season, nearly doubled its membership this year. The varsity squad, consisting of members who have the qualified skills, competed with other schools in the area. The club participated in the State Tournament in Cleveland, and challenged the Nahoning County and Youngstown University Chess Clubs. A banquet, at which trophies were presented for interclub matches, highlighted the year.

Photo Arts

Photo Arts Club encourages the student to further his skills in the use of the camera, and to develop and print his own pictures. Each month, members participate in a contest which deals with a different aspect of photography, and throughout the year awards are presented for outstanding entries. The club encourages its members to not only enjoy photography as a hobby, but to regard it as a possible profession.

High School Red Cross

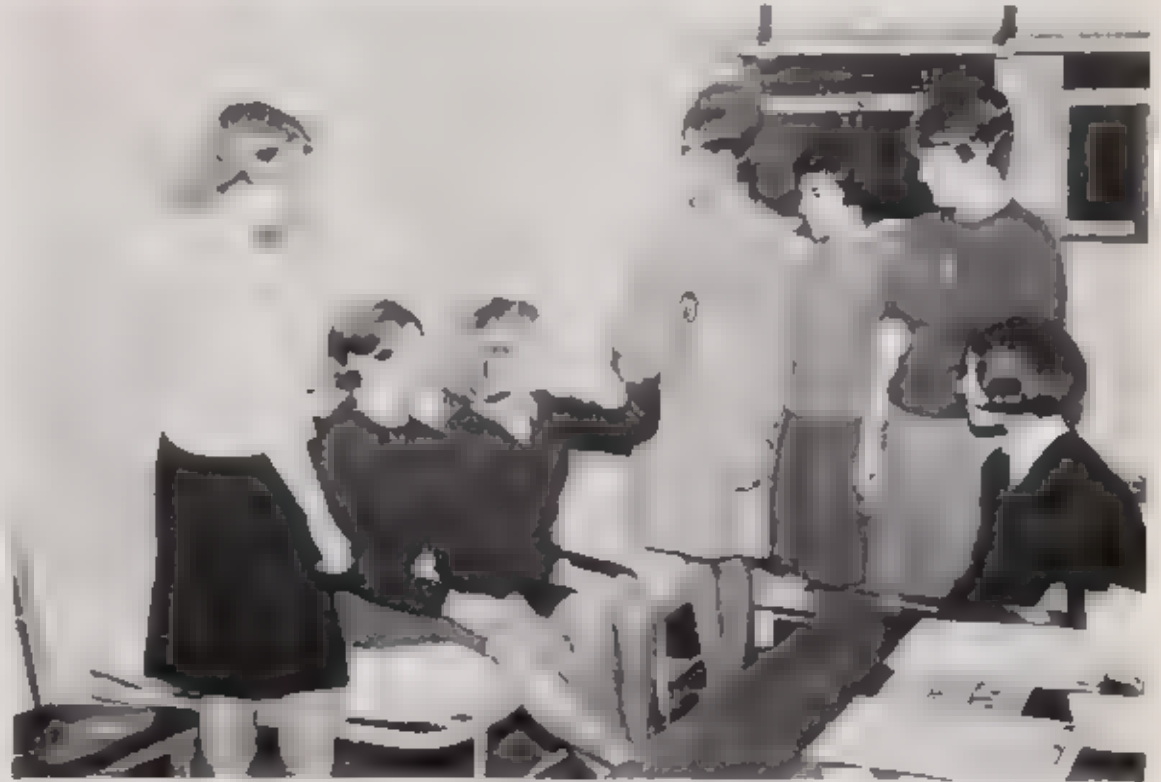

The humanitarian aims of the High School Red Cross make it a definite asset to our school and community. The main goal, help for the underprivileged, is fulfilled by annually preparing a disaster chest for distribution by the Red Cross. Throughout the year the club performs various services such as contributing to Christmas festivals for the aged, working at summer day camps for the handicapped and sending gift packages overseas. The High School Red Cross has received the honor of achieving first place in the annual fund raising drive in the community.

Nurse's Monitors

Boardman's infirmary is staffed during all periods of the day by the Nurse's Monitors. These girls volunteer their free periods in order to carry out the services offered by the high school sick room. In the absence of Mrs. Mead, the nurse for Boardman schools, they are prepared to administer elementary first aid for minor cuts and burns, and keep records of patients who require treatment. The girls also perform open heart surgery during third and fourth period every Wednesday under the direction of Mr. Eversole.

The Kaybees provide interested students with an opportunity to learn the techniques of a modern library. By performing such necessary functions as cataloging and checking books, and returning library cards, they are a great assistance to Miss Greenisen and to the student body throughout the entire school day.

Audio-Visual

The Audio-Visual staff, by taking complete charge of all educational aids, have become a valuable asset to both students and teachers. The assistants help in the classification, evaluation, and distribution of films, filmstrips, projectors and tape recorders throughout the school system.

Gymnastics Club

The aim of the Gymnastics Club is to encourage girls to perfect their performances in free exercise on parallel and uneven bars, in horse vaulting and on the balance beam. Under the supervision of Miss Martini, Boardman's Gymnastic Club became one of the few organized teams in the area.

Throughout the year the team was requested to provide educational demonstrations for various school systems in the state. It participated and placed in the Lake Erie A.A.U. competition and the Junior Olympics. The "Gymnastics Carousel," which was presented to the public, highlighted the year.

G.A.A.

By being a member of the Girls' Athletic Association, the girls of Boardman High School have a chance to compete in the team sports of basketball, softball, volleyball and bowling. In this organization the girls are taught the rules and techniques of the various games while enjoying the fellowship of the other members. Socially, the girls attend an annual Halloween party and an awards dinner held in the spring.

Hi-Y

Because of the overwhelming interest in Hi-Y activities, Boardman's Hi-Y Club is divided into two groups—the Freshman-Sophomore Hi-Y, advised by Mr. Luce and Mr. Mahan and the Junior-Senior Hi-Y advised by Mr. Carver and Mr. Hines. Meetings and gym nights are held twice a month throughout the school year.

This year the Junior-Senior Hi-Y competed with other area schools in football, basketball, and bowling leagues. All these matches were sponsored by the Youngstown YMCA. At the All-Sports Banquet held at the "Y", Boardman received eleven trophies for their participation and victories.

The Junior-Senior Hi-Y also sponsored two ski trips to Peek 'n Peak Ski Lodge in New York. The popular weekend events took place during January and February. The highlight of the year was Civic Day at which time the Junior-Senior Club members assumed positions in our city government.

The trials and tribulations of skiers—skiing, one of the most popular winter activities at BHS this year, was sponsored by the Junior-Senior Hi-Y.

Girls' Boosters

The spark which ignited school spirit was the Girls' Booster Club. Organizing pep assemblies, presenting new cheers and selling ribbons were some of their many contributions. Each week different classes decorated the halls and goalposts with colorful signs and banners. The nearly four hundred girls boosted the morale of the teams and helped carry them on to victory.

Science Lab Assistants

These students have all demonstrated a great amount of interest and skill in all fields of science. By using their abilities to improve the technical and functional performance of the science department, the lab assistants further their own skill and understanding while facilitating the duties of teachers of the various science courses.

The written word is the playground of the mind. Thus the staff of the Bugle found satisfaction in providing a prime communicatory channel for that of the student press.

The Bugle continued many of its old policies with exceptional freshness and vigor.

Especially effective was the paper's "Letters to the Editor" section which voiced both student and administrative opinion. A student favorite was the "Our Pride" column, in which seniors were chosen to be honored for contributions to school and class. A new Bugle idea was the "Band of the Month", which featured a B.H.S. group regularly.

Boardman Orators Receive Laurels

Speech Team

The Speech Team is perhaps the only activity in which the student can feel the pulse-beat of competition: the triumph of victory, the satisfaction of striving toward a common goal, and the bitter sting of defeat; as well as gaining in poise and scholastic ability. Speech is a summation of school activities—it takes from sports the warmth of teamwork; from the classroom the thrill of personal discovery; and from the clubs the feeling of security which results from making a group worthwhile. For the team, speech is more than just "another activity." Rather, it becomes a part of each member and leaves an indelible mark on him.

Mr. Dykins accepts the National Forensic Award for BHS

Marcia Axtmann, captain of individual events; Jim Blomstrom, captain of debate

N.F.L. Award

Each year an outstanding speech team is awarded the National Forensic League Award. This year, Boardman had the honor of receiving this award. It was a highly gratifying moment when Mr. Bruno Jacob, Secretary of the National Forensic League, presented the plaque to Mr. Dykins. That moment materialized all of the "blood, sweat, and tears" put into the speech team throughout the years. It was an honor not only for the speech team members, but also for every member of the school, for it singled out Boardman High School from hundreds of other schools throughout the nation.

Perhaps the most demanding of the Speech divisions is debate; for debate requires extensive research and analyzation of one question, or resolution, chosen by the National Forensic League each year. The 1966-67 debate topic was "Resolved: The foreign aid policy of the United States be limited to non-military assistance."

The debate team is composed of a two-man affirmative team, which contends the chosen resolution is best as it stands, and a similar negative team which tries to disprove the validity of the resolution

Original Oratory and Oratorical Declamation

The participants in Original Oratory and Oratorical Declamation acquire first-hand knowledge of what composes a successful speech. While the O.D. contestant presents an address written by an author for some other occasion, the O.O. speaker delivers an original one, written on a topic of his own choice

Seated: Linda Olson, Gloria Schotland, Marcia Axtmann. Standing: Marilyn Berdeman, Janice Rosenberger, Kathy Cline, Steve Berman

Humorous and Dramatics

Humorous and Dramatics compose the theatrical influence on the team. Each student in these divisions performs a portion of a play or novel, a comedy or tragedy respectively, for competition. The interpretation of the script is left to the student. In this way the basic elements of both acting and public oratorical performance are learned.

Seated: Debbie Andrews, Sue Hagerty, Jan Hedlund. Standing: Chris Chengelis, Paulette Cline, Marcia Axtmann, Fred Borts, Steve Berman, Ellen Fanos, Jan Hartman

Extemp

The extemper is a well-read student who can think on his feet. In this division, the speaker is given thirty to forty minutes to prepare a talk on a current events topic, after which he speaks for five to seven minutes. The extemper must keep constantly abreast of world events, and be able to compile the facts he has read into logical conclusions about his topic.

Stagecrew

No Boardman production would be complete without the atmosphere provided by the Stagecrew sets. Under the direction of Mr. Barron, members of the Stagecrew paint scenery, build sets, collect props, and arrange back-drops for plays and musicals. The sets seen on the night of the performance are the end products of many hours of careful thought and preparation.

Lighting Crew

As far as an audience is concerned, the people primarily responsible for the success of a presentation are the performers. Few people realize that a production of high caliber requires unity between the actors and a back-stage technical staff. The Lighting Crew provides this coordination. Members of the group work behind the scenes at all Boardman plays, musicals, and concerts. The assistance provided by the lighting crew contributes to the well-produced performances at Boardman.

Stagecraft

Stagecraft was developed to help stimulate an interest and promote an acquaintance with the theater. Guest speakers and discussions of current plays dominate the club's monthly meetings. Trips to area play productions and rehearsals are also included in their agenda.

It Is the Best of All Second Best to Sing

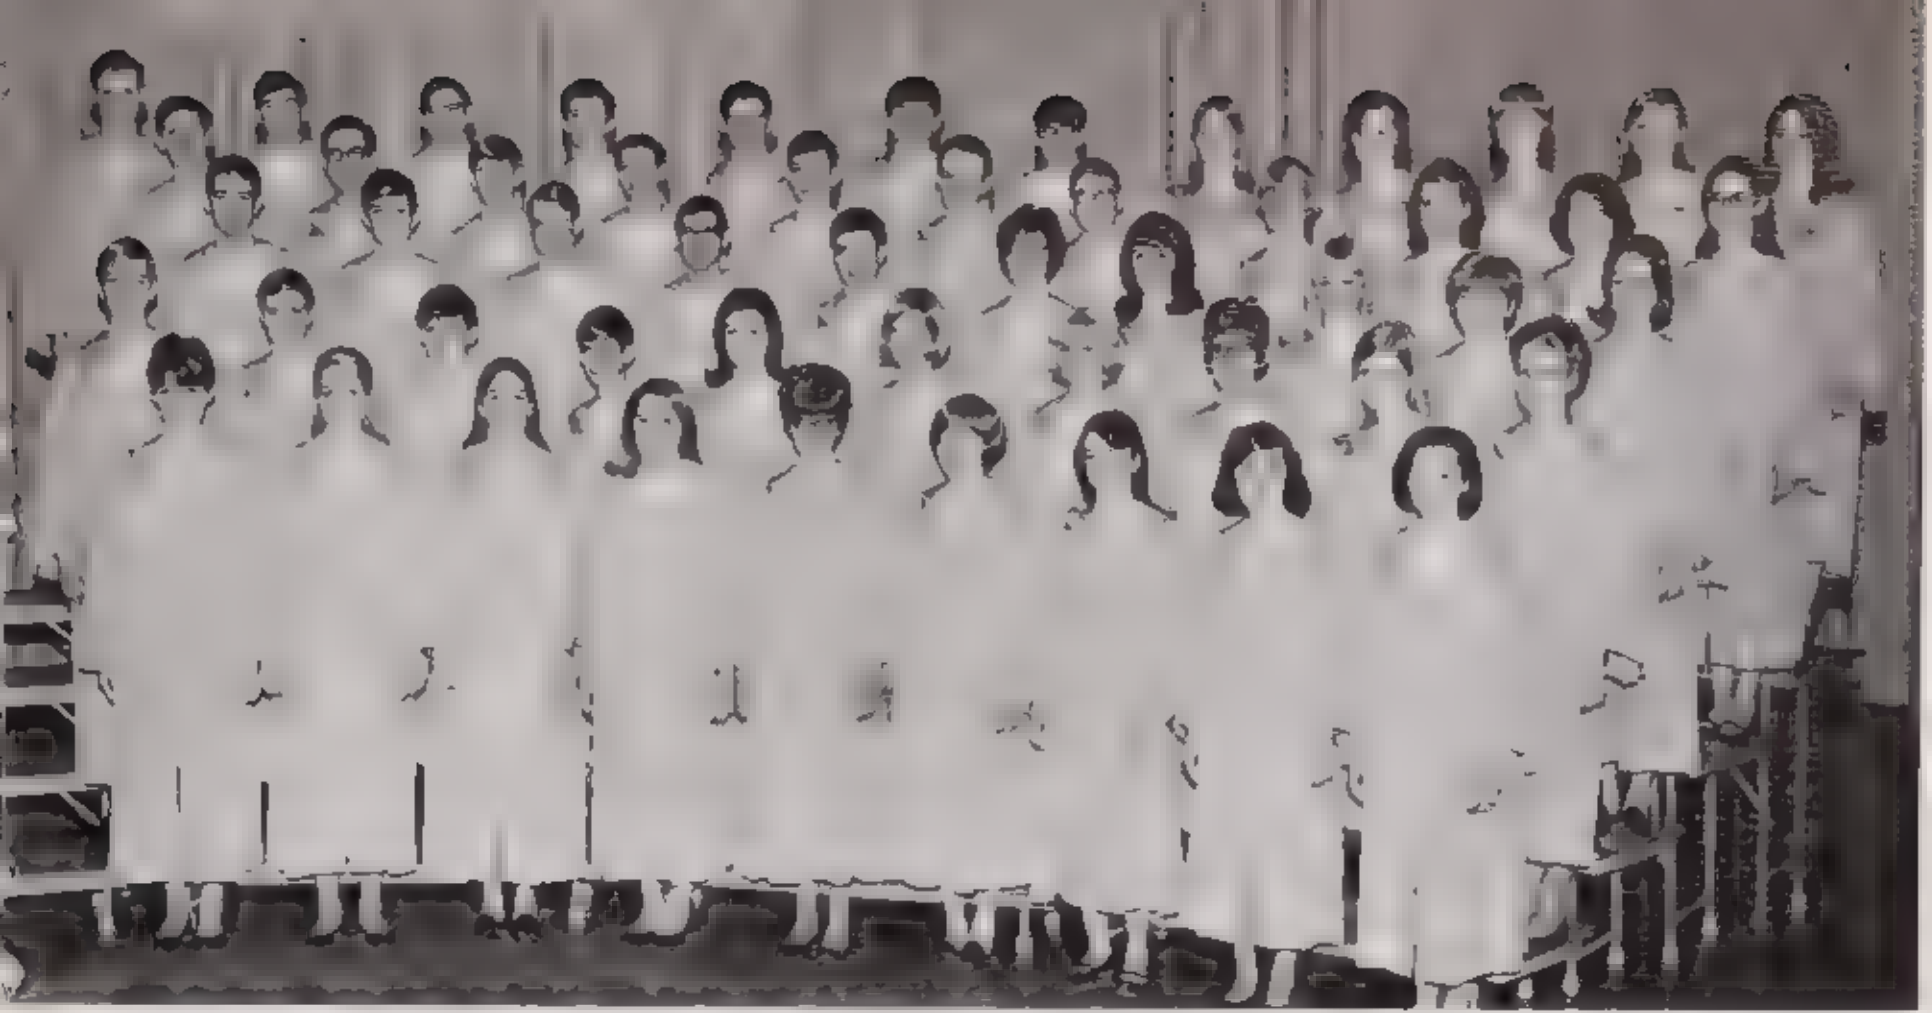

"Do You Hear What I Hear?" has become the traditional procession of the Choir at Christmas

The A Cappella Choir is the most advanced group of the Choral Music Department. It has one objective: living music. The group, as one choral voice, tries to breathe life into each of the works it presents. The Choir and living music are one.

The 15th anniversary of the Choir was celebrated by the voices of 109 sophomores, juniors, and seniors this year. In its beginning in the school year 1951-52, only 78 voices composed this group. Prerequisite for membership is at least one year of involvement with one of the other choral groups.

The Choir is primarily a performing group. During the school year, it sang for Veterans' Day and National Honor Society Assemblies. It presented its annual Christmas gift to the community and its Spring Festival, "Swingin' Spring Sing". The latter was more than a concert; it included dancing by the Choir Stage Action Cast, various ensembles, and other special groups. It also participated in the Mahoning County Music Festival. Its final appearance was made at Baccalaureate. Through this fellowship the members lived their theme song, "You'll Never Walk Alone."

Girls' and Boys' Ensembles

Girls' Ensemble: Patti Jo Grant, Sue Garver, Joyce Miller, Bonnie Simon, Emily Evans, Karen Powell, Rosemary Rumble, Linda Reynalt, Diana Waggoner, Marilynne Freed, and Mary Alice Jackson

Many times throughout the year, the A Cappella Choir is asked to sing at various community functions, but because of the large membership, it is often impossible to accept many of these invitations. The Boys' and Girls' Ensembles were created by the Choir to fill this capacity when such an occasion arises.

This year, under the direction of student leaders Marilynne Freed and Bob Schmid, with assistance from Mrs. Humphrey, the Ensembles practiced for blend and good tone quality three times a week. In addition to performing in the Christmas and Spring Festivals, the nine girls and twelve boys sang for Kiwaniqueens at Fonderlac Country Club, the P.T.A. Casserole Dinner, John Knox and Lutheran Church groups and the A.F.S. Casserole Dinner. They also participated in the State Music Contest at which time both groups received a superior rating.

Mixed Chorus

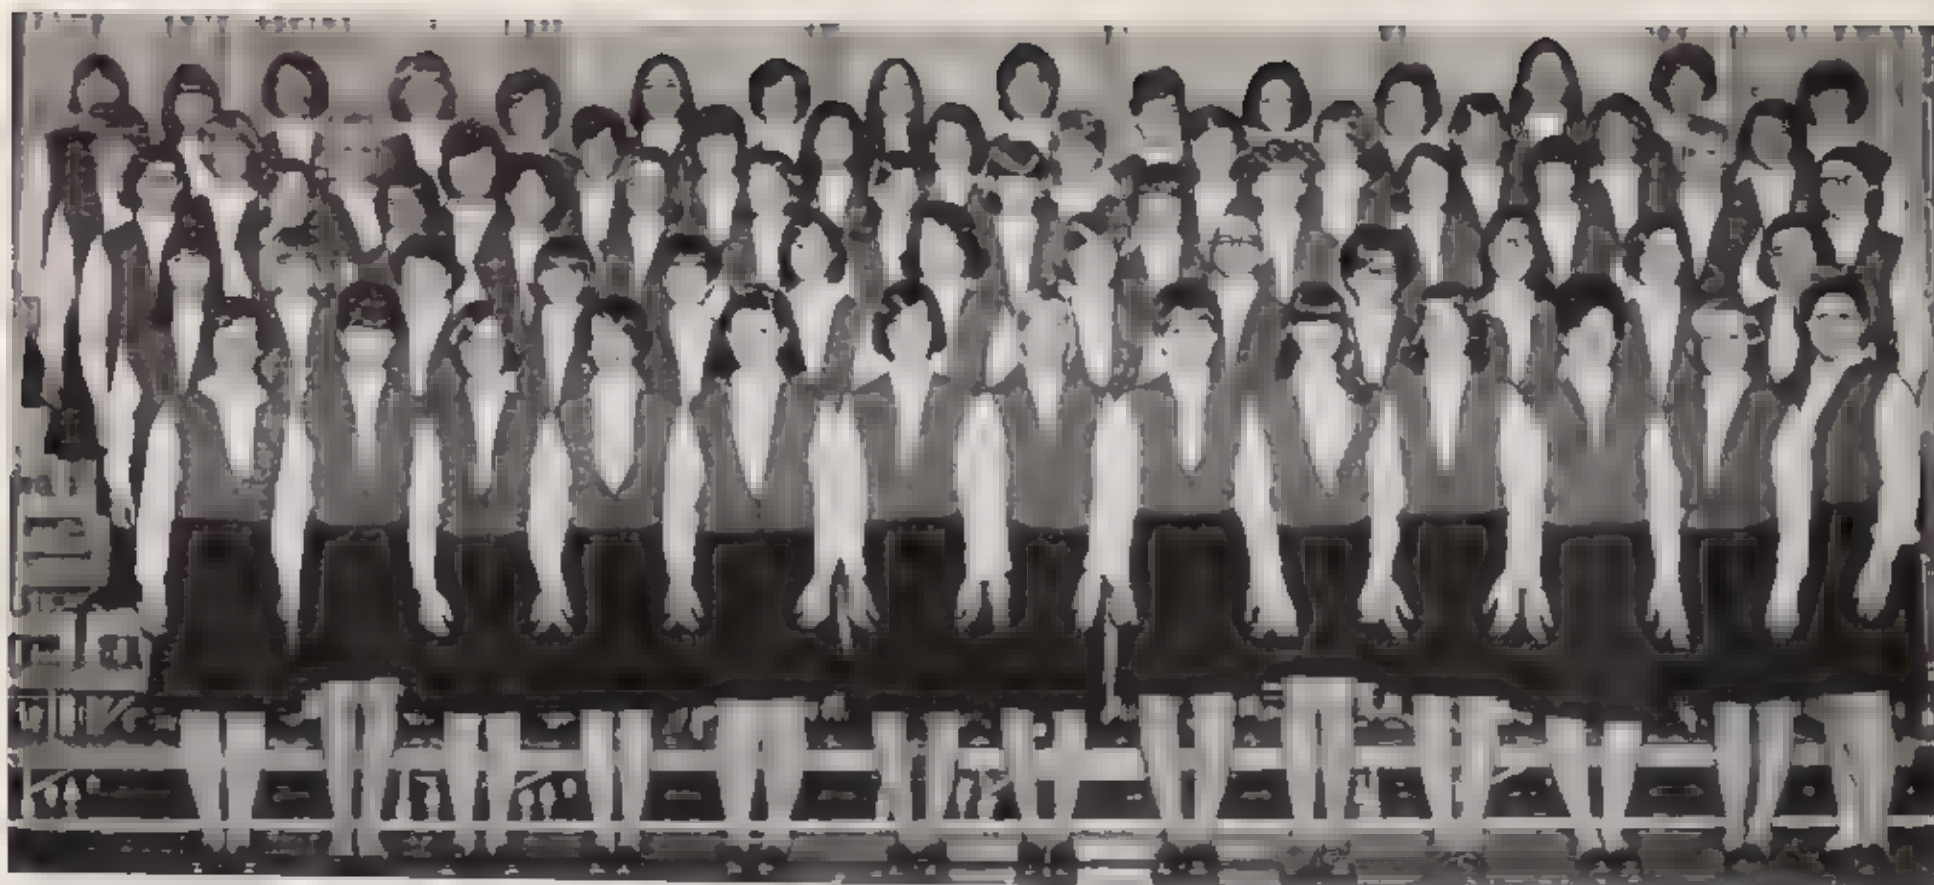

The study of vocal skills, the improvement of sight reading, and a better understanding of different types of music are the main objectives of the Mixed Chorus. During daily classes the members, composed of sopranos, altos, tenors, and basses, learn the fundamentals of good singing and practice sacred and secular four-part music.

Forty-six girls and twenty-one boys made up the Mixed Chorus during the school year 1966-67. Attired in their traditional black and white outfits, they performed various selections during the department's Christmas Concert and "Swingin' Spring Sing". The chorus's officers for the year included Dave Taylor, president; Gary Miller, treasurer; Karen Storm, secretary; and Betsy Braham, publicity.

The Christmas Choral Program contained many selections by the Mixed Chorus

Girls' Glee Chorus

An invaluable facet of the Choral Music Department is the Girls' Glee Chorus. In this organization the members become acquainted with different types of music for listening pleasure and study. The learning of fundamentals of quality singing and the increasing of music appreciation are the basic goals of the members. This knowledge is expressed during the Christmas and spring programs at which times the girls dress in red sweater-vests, white blouses and black skirts.

For a special field trip this year, the Girls' Glee attended the opera, La Traviata, in Cleveland. This magnificent work encouraged the group to strive for greater achievement. This activity and their sections of the two programs were planned by their officers—Janet Webster, president; Janet Massaro, treasurer; Mary Lou Schettler, publicity; and Gail Storm, secretary.

Pat Quinn, Kathy Beach, Paulette Longaker, and Paula Gluck performed solos during the selection, "Gesù Bambino"

Choral Librarians

The librarians are an invaluable asset to the organization of the Choral Music Department. By assisting Mrs. Humphrey in filing and repairing music, recording grades, and maintaining the appearance of the room, they contribute to the efficiency of the singing groups.

Proudly displaying their new royal blue blazers, Gentlemen's Glee Chorus performs in the choral Christmas program

Gentlemen's Glee Chorus

The main goals of the Gentlemen's Glee Chorus are to develop better vocal techniques and to challenge its members to sing four part music skillfully. The students are also given instruction in breath support and tone quality which will prepare them for advancement in the department.

This year the freshman, sophomore and junior boys performed their selections during the winter and spring concerts in new royal blue blazers. Their officers included Mark Mangie, president; Greg Gay, treasurer; Chuck Kissack, secretary; and Jerry Haber, publicity.

The 1967 Boardman High School Symphonic Band

Music — The Universal

Varsity Band

By far the largest, and probably the best known portion of Instrumental Music, is the Varsity Band. The community has its first opportunity to see the band each year at the Boardman Day Parade and the Canfield Fair. The debut, however, takes place only after a week of practice drilling at band camp, which is located on Lake Erie. The main purpose of the Varsity Band is to perform during half time at football games, both at home and away. At the end of the football season the Varsity Band divides into the Concert and Symphonic Bands

Tongue

Symphonic Band

The most select of all the divisions within the Instrumental Music Department is the Symphonic Band. It consists of the most skilled musicians from all four classes. In addition to the Winter and Spring Concerts at school, the Symphonic Band gave a performance at Woodside Hospital and played for the Junior High Music Appreciation Concert. The excellence of this group was reflected in a superior rating earned at the district contest, held March 11 at Warren, which enabled them to travel to Lancaster, Ohio for the state contest.

Concert Band

Boardman's Concert Band trains and prepares younger musicians for more advanced work. It also helps to round out the performance schedule of the Instrumental Music Department, with interest placed on participation in the Winter and Spring Concerts. Through regular practices the Concert Band grooms its members for the highest goal, the Symphonic Band.

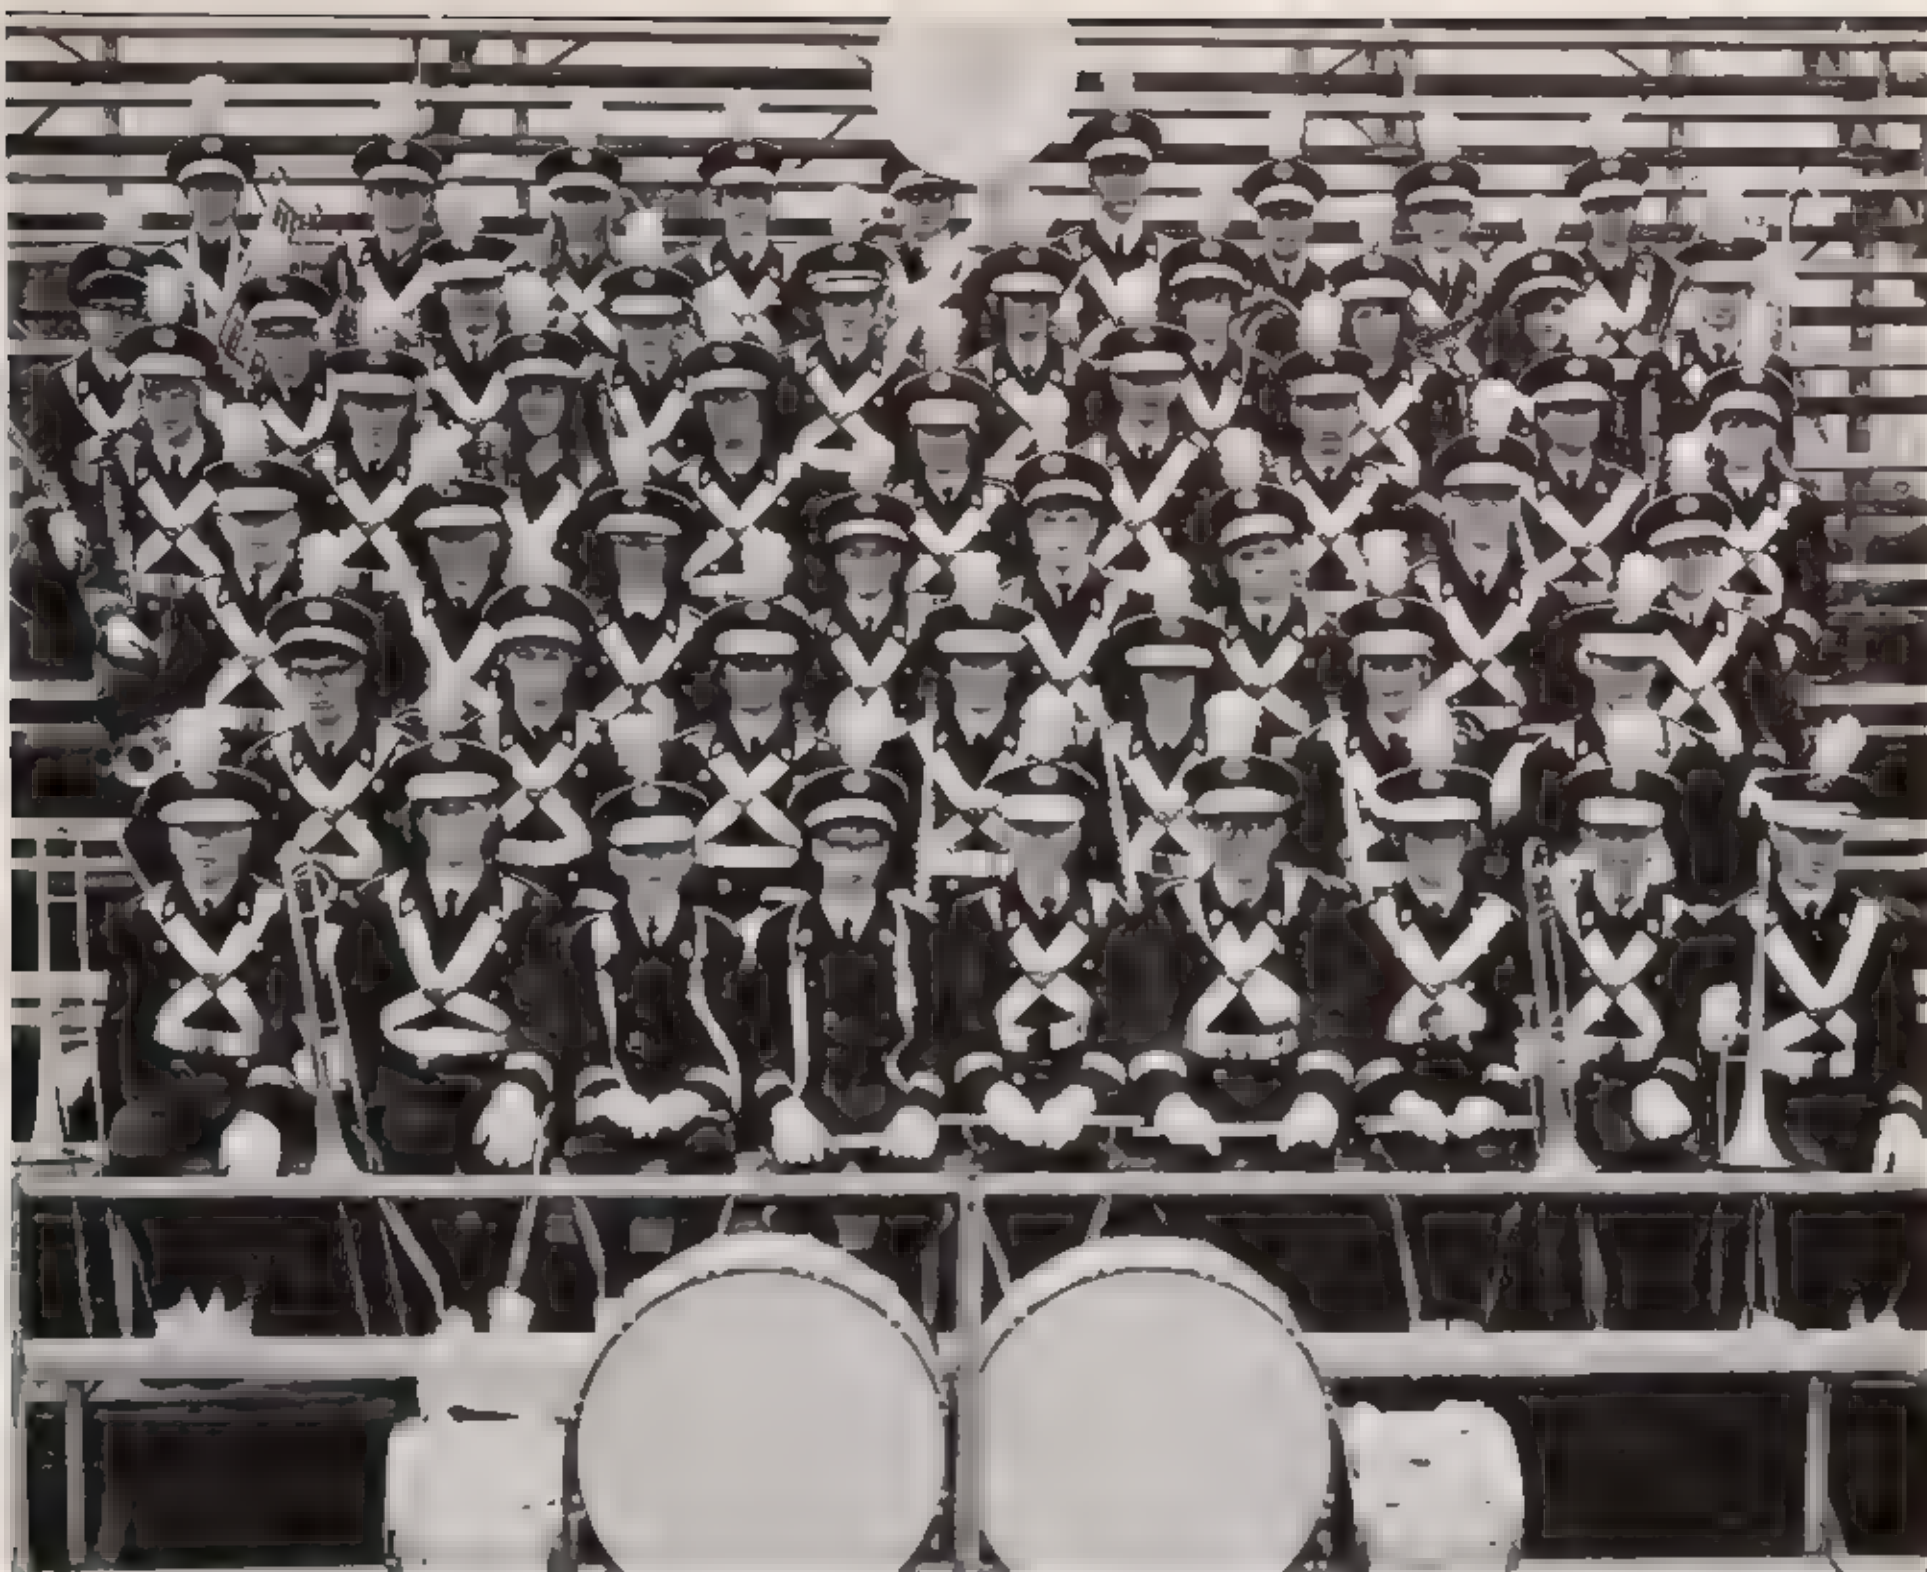

Orchestra

The steadily growing Orchestra proved to be an integral part of the instrumental music program at Boardman this year. The accompaniment at the school musical Lil' Abner and the music heard at the N.H.S. and Veterans' Day assemblies were provided by the Orchestra. It also performed during both the Winter and Spring Concerts. Honors received by the Orchestra included an excellent rating at the state contest.

Freshman Band

Boardman musicians receive valuable training in the Freshman Band. Operating as a separate unit from the Varsity Band, the ninth grade members are given an opportunity to improve their musical abilities. Important skills and talents are developed during their first year of high school.

Performances by this instrumental group are heard at football games and at the Freshman Winter and Spring Concerts. This year's group also competed at the district contest in May.

Band Librarians

An important asset to any department is the organization of necessary materials. It was the task of the music librarians to perform this service for the Instrumental Music Department throughout the year. Each day these girls prepared the music folders and were responsible for the distribution of music among the students.

Varsity Band Librarians; Elissa Leebaw, Linda Friedrich, Betsy Dolan, Sue Schrader.

Anita Ault, head majorette.

Majorettes and Drum Major

During the fall and throughout the basketball season, the majorettes added greatly to the color and excitement of football and pep rallies. Along with drum major Jim Oesch and head majorette Anita Ault, the twirlers led the marching band during the half-time performances.

By practicing all summer on their own, and then as a group at band camp, the majorettes and drum major perfected the routines so familiar to Boardman fans. Their skills were also exhibited during Boardman's Community Day Parade, at the Canfield Fair, and for the annual Memorial Day services.

To Laud and Acclaim . . .

The ringing sound of spirit seemed to surround Boardman's cheerleaders this year. Their pep went beyond the rousing yells at football games, and the thundering echo of "Boardman Loc" during a tied basketball score. Rather, their enthusiasm went straight to the heart of every Boardman student, and made each give more for his team than ever before.

Last summer, members of both the Varsity and the Junior Varsity spent time at cheerleading camps in preparation for the coming sports seasons. The Varsity and JV's received first and third place trophies respectively for overall competitive cheering; the varsity also was awarded a second place ribbon in the night competition.

They won the County Championship to extend their winning streak to four in a row and twelve county titles in the last 13 years. They were victorious three years straight in the Steel Valley Championship making a total of 11 wins in the past 13 years. In two of their meets the opposition was able to win only one event.

There were three school records broken during the 1967 season. Roger Kreps broke the two-mile record with a time of 10:18. Roger was named the team's hardest worker. Larry Wire bettered the shotput record with a put of 53 feet 5 inches and distinguished himself as one of the state's better discus throwers when he tossed the discus 172 feet 8 inches. Larry was selected as the most valuable participant in the Class AA County Meet. The sight of the sparkling and excited queen candidates; the crisp look of the fresh, white mums; the lively expressions of the faces in the stands: it was Homecoming, 1966.

During the halftime ceremonies, our Queen, Floy Lawson, reigned supreme. She was crowned with a ring of snow-white chrysanthemums by co-captain, Larry Hamilton, and the traditional kiss was given by co-captain, Jeff Heaver. Anita Ault, Amy Hammond, Sandy Love, and Jacque Smith completed Floy's court.

ABNER

Boardman High School's second musical comedy, L'il Abner, brought talented actors, dancers, singers and artists to the hilarious village of Dogpatch, U.S.A. The show was a re-creation of Al Capp's eccentric cartoon characters set to lively music and clever dance routines.

The production was the culmination of guidance and preparation in many fields. While Mrs. E. E. Humphrey and Mr. R. S. Bame directed the musical aspects of the comedy, Mr. J. R. Barron choreographed the dances. Mr. W. G. Dykins was stage director, Cathy Vasu was student director, and Paulette Cline was stage manager. The result was another success on our stage, warmly received by the Boardman community.

The 1967 Sweetheart Ball, "The Sweetheart Tree", was the most successful ever. This was achieved through hours of hard work on the part of active Avida Y-Teens. These junior and senior girls, advised by Mrs. Deutsch and Mrs. Hammond, transformed the junior high gymnasium into a fairyland of toadstools, miniature trees and a green and pink crepe paper sky to depict their chosen theme

Under the branches of the club's own sweetheart tree, Gretchen Meyer and Bruce Kiskaddon were crowned queen and king. They were attended by Chris Marsden, Jim Copacino, Janie Stackhouse, Bob Mastriana, Amy Erickson, John Gibson, Sherry Dubinsky, and Ted Downie. Art Club Sponsors Bongo Congo

Deep Africa was the setting with wild animals, Tarzan, bright flowers, a waterfall and a lot of imagination for the 1000 people who attended "Bongo Congo", the 1967 Bohemian Ball at the Junior high gymnasium.

"The Pied Pipers" supplied the sounds to which the teenagers in Africanese dress danced. Entertainment at intermission was provided by the folk singing group, "Two in a Crowd", and a ritual snake dance performed under black lights. Pictures of this memorable event were taken by Paul Poldergotch.

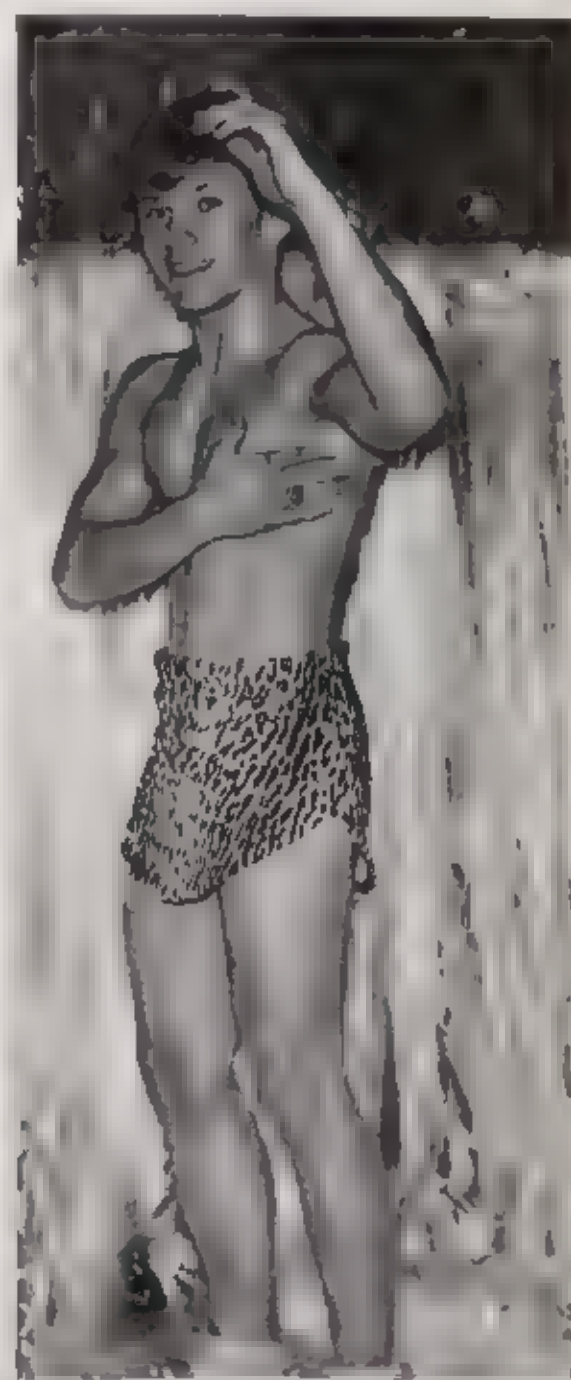

Jeannine King is swept up by Art "Ape" Einzing while trainer Baylukoff commands him to give her up.

The Great White Hunter and M.C. of "Bongo Congo", Fred Borts, took time out to stalk a lion

In 1967, the "in" group was "The Pied Pipers".

Bob Heaver escaped the heat by jumping into the sparkling waters of the jungle falls.

Art Show

"... one of the best high school art shows I've seen." These were the words of Mr. Al Parella, the judge of the 1967 Student Art Exhibit. There were approximately 1,035 entries, and all art students competed in the 26 categories. A feature of the spring show was the sale of handicraft items and paintings which enabled the art student to profit from his talents and efforts.

The Art Club sponsors the annual event. However, throughout the year small-scale shows plus one-man senior shows are held in the Little Archway Gallery.

Jim Centric's characterization of the track team made the cartoon section a popular one.

Roman Banquet

To prove the point that Latin is not all work and no play, the Latin Club annually sponsors their traditional Roman Banquet. No member is admitted unless he is properly attired in Roman costume. The third and fourth year students represent the noble Senate while the second year students are plebians. The first year students are slaves and serve the meal to the Romans and run occasional errands for the Senators

During the Roman Banquet this year, Cassie Baughman acted as Empress while Tony D'Annessa acted as Emperor. The royal pair and the other Roman citizens were served a dinner of chicken, potatoes, string beans, and various relishes. Following this opulac, or banquet, dancing girls, a Latin play and arena games completed the evening's festivities

Gymnastic Carousel

When the junior and senior high gymnastics clubs put on their second annual gym show, the junior high gymnasium was turned into a three-ringed circus. Acrobats, jugglers, wild animals and clowns highlighted the "1967 Circus World", which was under the direction of Miss Martini and Mrs. Sullivan, with Mrs. Vanish in charge of costuming.

Nancy Gregory and Gina Werbner of the Youngstown Ballet Company gave a demonstration of their ballet performances. Also participating in the program were four girls who placed in the Junior Olympics and the Lake Erie AAU. They were Diana Hutko who took a first place on the parallel bars; Cindy Bush who took a second place in vaulting, and Sue Rogers who took a fifth in vaulting in the senior division. In the intermediate division, Theresa Clayton took a third on the parallel bars.

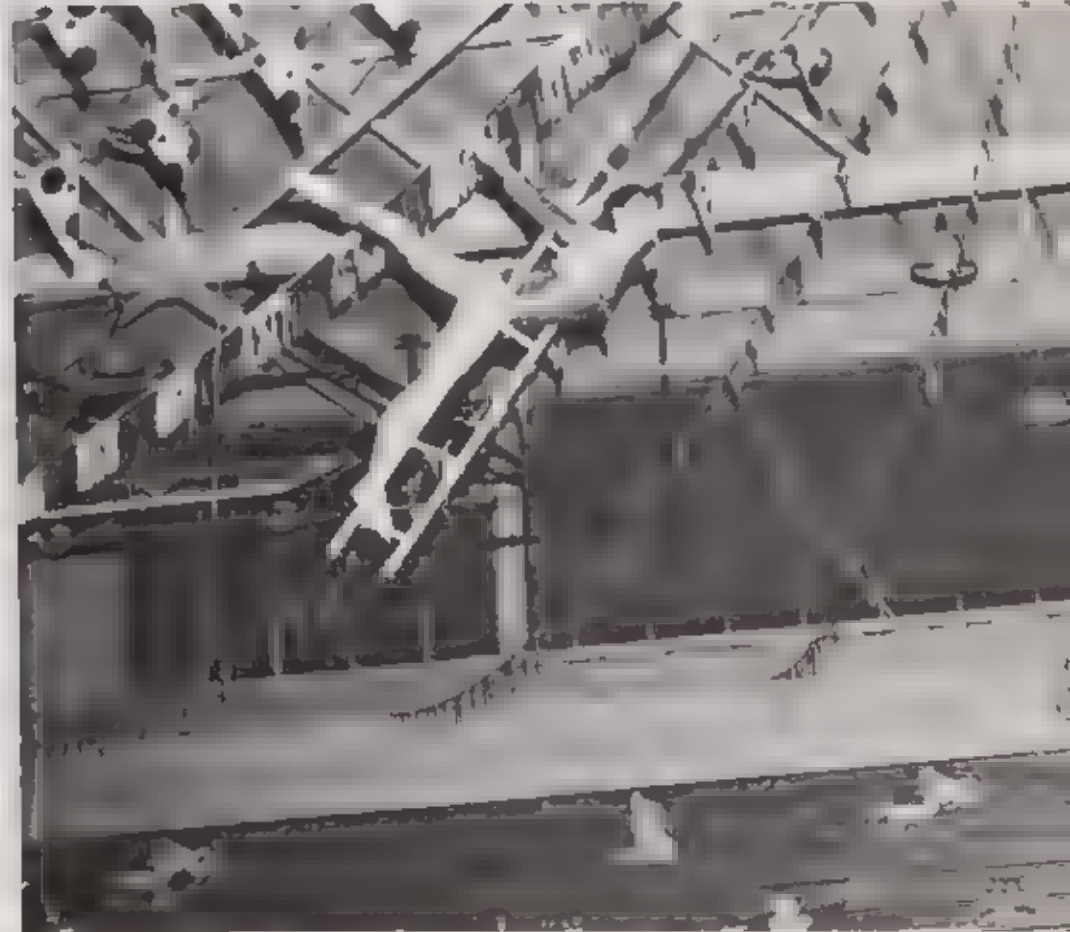

Hours of practice helped Sandy Evans to make the gymnastic show a success.

Concentration and ability add up to perfection for Cindy's vaulting.

Gina and Nancy graced the gymnastics show with their performance.

Hard work, diligent practice, and talented students were the three main factors which contributed to the realistic production of Boardman's Senior Play, The Miracle Worker, by William Gibson. The cast, composed of members of all four classes, and Mr. William G. Dykins, the director, once again presented a fine and successful play, a tradition of Boardman's stage.

The very moment of the miracle .

The Stage Cast received vigorous applause for their performance of "There's Always An Extra Potato."

Swingin' Spring Sing

During the first week in May, the Choral Music Department presented its 16th annual festival of song, which, this year, was entitled, "Swingin' Spring Sing". This particular program marked the fifteenth year of A Cappella Choir at the high school.

The curtain opened with "Everything's Coming Up Roses" to the brightly decorated stage of paper flowers and the lively choreography by the Choir Stage Cast. As the program continued, the audience was entertained by the Gentlemen's Glee Chorus, Girls' Glee Chorus, Mixed Chorus, and the Girls' and Boys' Ensembles. The presentation ended with a concert of secular and sacred selections by the Choir. It completed over a decade and a half of choral singing at Boardman.

Guitarists during the Choir's rendition of "Blowin' in the Wind" were Bob Sullivan, Alan Murray, Sue Darnell, Hilary Sotter, and Emily Evans.

A favorite pastime of modern teenagers was demonstrated by the Girl's Glee as they danced to the song, "Telephone Hour."

The string section was featured in the orchestra's rendition of "The Waltzing Cat".

International Interludes

The Instrumental Music Department honored its foreign exchange student members by dedicating their spring concert, "International Interludes," to them. This performance honored Anne-Marie Richard, A.F.S. French delegate, and Anne Thompson, Rotary student from Australia.

The high points of the concert included the Orchestra's performance of Beethoven's "Egmont," and the Symphonic Band's rendition of Shostakovich's "Symphony No. 5."

The mellow tones of the woodwind section provided an intricate harmony during the Symphonic Band's performance of Symphony No. 5, by Shostakovich.

Baccalaureate and Commencement

The seriousness of the occasion is reflected in the face of David Martin.

Graduation is a rebirth; it is the beginning of the long journey on the road of experience.

Baccalaureate marked this beginning for the Class of 1967. This religious service was held outside in the high school stadium and was highlighted by the sermon of Reverend Robert E. Bayless, Pastor of the Good Hope Lutheran Church. During his message Rev. Bayless offered guidelines for living in the adult life ahead of each graduating senior.

At Commencement on Wednesday, June 7, the graduating class and the audience heard the inspirational speech of Dr. Kenneth McFarland, a guest lecturer courtesy of the Lordstown Plant Committee. After this address, Mr. William E. Fowler, Jr., President of the Boardman Board of Education, presented diplomas to the 426 seniors. This ceremony marked the ending of high school life, but it also marked the beginning of the roads leading to the future.

The junior marshals Sharon Prizant and Jan Hartman prepare to lead the procession to "Pomp and Circumstance."

"Speak Up for America" was the keynote address delivered by Dr. Kenneth McFarland.

Gary Vrooman receives a congratulatory handshake from the president of the Boardman School Board, Mr. William E. Fowler, Jr., who presented diplomas assisted by Mr. Kirk.

The Freshman Year —

The Beginning of All Roads Leading to the Future

What is a beginning? It is only that which we later wish we could regain. The beginning is a singular experience, for no matter what happens it cannot be repeated; never after an initial exposure can it again hold its first mystery, freshness, or anticipation.

So it is with the freshman year. It is that memorable and frightening experience of beginning. Perhaps it is not unlike the beginning of a long, long series of roads on which the traveler foresees the end a tiny dot four long years away. He knows all these roads lead to the future through a formal education. Once on this system of roads, he realizes the paths are well-built, for through the years, others before him have placed layer after layer upon their foundation. Now they are strong and thick and ready to help the new traveler find his way to his future beyond. Thus the high school experience has begun . . .

The Sophomore Year —

A Time of Charting Decisions

As the traveler progresses along his chosen path, it becomes a personal thing. It is no longer "that" road, but "my" road. And he discovers that he is not alone. There are people—generous, selfish, kind, ambitious, shy, bold, or thoughtless people—who surround him, and who are striving for their personal goals of success. He learns he must compete; as he does so, he speeds even more quickly toward the growing dot in the distance.

He learns, also, that the road is not a lark nor a drudgery. It has the purpose of preparing him for the day when he reaches its end. Education, mental and emotional, are basic to the road, and he learns to enjoy each as they bring him new understanding.

With the sophomore year, then, comes discovery, competition, and understanding. As confidence grows, so does anxiety for more of this experience. The journey continues . . .

Finally-some of the class members engage in some practical aspect of school life

The sophomores are really music lovers at heart. They comprise the bulk of the band and among them there are some independent dance bands. Many participate in the spring competitions and it is usually during their sophomore year that the decision to major in music is made.

The Junior Year —

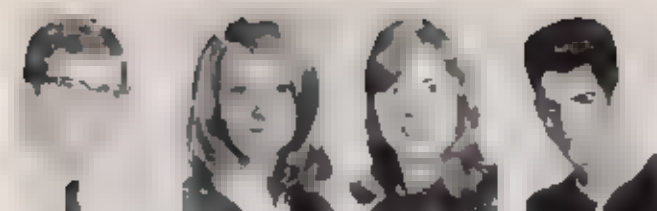

A Crossroads for Evaluation

As the traveler reaches the halfway mark, he stops to consider his progress. As he does so, he finds that people all around him are doing the same. Everyone, even his adult advisors seem to be evaluating him. He is tested and retested to determine his accomplishments. He is assigned a number to rate him against all his fellow travelers. Finally he realizes that all this evaluation is the determinant of just what he will do at the end of the way. He begins to seriously plan for that end.

Thus, the junior sees the end growing clearly visible and begins to assume a sense of responsibility toward those behind and ahead of him. Within this responsibility he somehow finds the ingenuity to plan a prom and a homecoming. Some are picked for their outstanding responsibility—membership in National Honor Society is the result. Others wait and hope for recognition or simply the end. However the beginning of the end is in sight.

The Senior Year — An End but a Beginning

With the senior year the student finds the long awaited end at his feet. But even as he rejoices at having reached it, he feels an odd sadness at doing everything for the last time. Strange things, little things, he never really noticed, touch him now—his last bus ride, the last time he sings the Alma Mater, his last cut into the lunch line—all these become vivid memories stored now for future recall.

As he goes through the motions of finality—finals, senior week, baccalaureate, commencement—he stands at the exit of high school. Suddenly, a startling thought strikes him. This is not an ending to a long road, but another fresh beginning to another series of even longer roads . . .

YOUTH and the WORLD
Strouss

"There is many a battle that's yet to be won,
There is many a glorious deed to be done.
The world is still young! For the youth at its door
There are tasks some shall do never dreamed of before.
It is not an old world, worn and wrinkled and gray,
It's a world that is being reborn every day."

WE'RE PROUD OF YOU!

You've made a wonderful mark on our world with your youth, your vitality, your hard work, too. And thank you . . . for making us see your new ways of looking at life, a laugh or two at ourselves, and well . . . just being you . . . young, happy, and ready.

There's a whole world waiting to hear from you again . . . so make the very best of all that you are, and all that you want to be. Believe in that dream, and work for it . . . you are the only one who can make it real, you know . . . because you have that very special something . . . your individuality. Please, never lose that.

It's hats off to you, graduate! You've done much to be proud of, and there's much more that can be done . . . we believe you can do it. We believe in you.
